

Canadian Association of Psychosocial Oncology
Association Canadienne d'Oncologie Psychosociale

Samar Attieh, MSc, MPH
CAPO Student Liaison

Samar Attieh is a PhD candidate at the Division of Experimental Medicine at McGill University in Montreal. She holds two Masters' degrees (Master's in Laboratory Medical Sciences and in Public Health concentrating in Epidemiology and Biostatistics). In 2016, Samar joined Dr. Carmen Loiselle's lab at McGill University and contributed to a variety of projects focusing on developing and investigating the effects of innovative e-health/m-health interventions on various health-related outcomes of individuals diagnosed with cancer. Samar has more than six years of research experience in data collection, management and analysis gained through collaborating on research projects, manuscripts, and grant submissions as well as presenting at national and international scientific conferences.